

BONUS CHAPTER: THE WISEST DECISION YOU WILL EVER MAKE

Having God as your business partner is the wisest decision you will ever make in your lifetime; this is because it aligns your goals, values, and actions with eternal principles, bringing purpose, clarity, and divine favor into your work.

Here are the reasons why this decision is transformative:

1. God Owns Everything

As the Creator of the universe (Psalm 24:1), God owns all resources, talents, and opportunities. Partnering with Him means tapping into the limitless provisions and wisdom of the ultimate source.

Deuteronomy 8:18: “But remember the Lord your God, for it is He who gives you the ability to produce wealth.”

2. Unmatched Guidance and Wisdom

God’s Word offers timeless principles for managing resources, leading teams, and conducting business ethically. His guidance helps you avoid pitfalls and make sound decisions.

Proverbs 3:5-6: “Trust in the Lord with all your heart and lean not on your own understanding; in all your ways submit to Him, and He will make your paths straight.”

3. Divine Favor and Blessing

God promises to bless those who honor Him. Making Him your partner invites His favor, which can open doors, create opportunities, and ensure your efforts bear lasting fruit.

Proverbs 10:22: “The blessing of the Lord brings wealth, without painful toil for it.”

4. Purpose Beyond Profits

God-centered business partnerships focus on serving others, glorifying God, and contributing to the greater good. This infuses your work with deeper meaning and eternal value.

Matthew 6:33: “But seek first His kingdom and His righteousness, and all these things will be given to you as well.”

5. Peace in Uncertainty

In times of economic uncertainty, market fluctuations, or personal challenges, having God as your partner offers unmatched peace and assurance. His sovereignty means that He can turn any situation for good.

Philippians 4:6-7: “Do not be anxious about anything... And the peace of God, which transcends all understanding, will guard your hearts and your minds in Christ Jesus.”

6. Accountability and Integrity

Partnering with God means running your business with accountability to His principles. This fosters trust, integrity, and a reputation for excellence that attracts clients and collaborators.

Proverbs 16:11: "Honest scales and balances belong to the Lord; all the weights in the bag are of His making."

7. Multiplication of Efforts

When you commit your work to God, He multiplies your efforts and resources. This is not just about financial gain but also about maximizing impact and influence.

2 Corinthians 9:8: "And God is able to bless you abundantly, so that in all things at all times, having all that you need, you will abound in every good work."

8. Legacy and Eternal Rewards

Building a business with God ensures that your success is not fleeting. It creates a legacy of faith, stewardship, and generosity that impacts generations and has eternal significance.

Matthew 25:21: "Well done, good and faithful servant! You have been faithful with a few things; I will put you in charge of many things."

REAL LIFE STORIES

These following two real-life stories illustrate how generosity, especially tithing, has led to increased wealth and income. These stories highlight how applying biblical principles of giving can result in material and spiritual blessings.

1. The Story of R.G. LeTourneau (The "Mover of Men and Mountains")

Background: R.G. LeTourneau, a Christian industrialist, was one of the most successful inventors and businessmen in the 20th century. He dedicated his life and business to God and is often called "God's businessman."

Tithing Principle: LeTourneau started by tithing 10% of his income but eventually decided to give 90% of his earnings to God's work and live on 10%.

Outcome: Despite giving away most of his income, his wealth continued to grow exponentially. His company became a leader in manufacturing earth-moving equipment, and his inventions significantly impacted industries like construction and mining.

Key Lesson: LeTourneau believed that "God is my business partner," and his generosity brought not only financial success but also a lasting legacy of faith.

Here are some R.G. LeTourneau's notable quotes:

On God's Ownership and Partnership

1. "The question is not how much of my money I give to God, but how much of God's money I keep for myself."
2. "If you give because it pays, it won't pay."

On Hard Work and Faith

1. "You will never know what you can accomplish until you say a great big YES to the Lord."
2. "The Bible is the best business guide I know."
3. "Work is a gift of God. It is the high calling of mankind."

On Generosity

1. "I shovel out the money, and God shovels it back—but God has a bigger shovel."
2. "We can have more in life if we are willing to share what we have with others."

On Trusting God

1. "If you don't trust God in the little things, how can you trust Him with the big things?"
2. "Faith doesn't get you around trouble; it gets you through it."

On Success and Priorities

1. "My business success was God's success, not mine. I was just His tool."
2. "There's no better place to put your money than in God's hands."

2. David Green (Founder of Hobby Lobby)

Background: David Green, the founder of the retail giant Hobby Lobby, is a devout Christian who built his business on biblical principles. Hobby Lobby has grown to over 900 stores across the U.S. with billions in annual revenue. Despite economic downturns, Green's business has thrived, and he attributes this success to honoring God through generosity.

In his book "Leadership Not by the Book," David Green, shares twelve unconventional principles that have driven his company's success. These principles challenge traditional business norms by emphasizing faith-based and people-centric approaches. Here are the key lessons:

1. Acknowledge God's Ownership: Recognize that everything belongs to God, and leaders are stewards of His resources. This perspective fosters humility and a commitment to aligning business practices with biblical values.

2. Prioritize Obedience to the Holy Spirit: Make decisions guided by spiritual discernment rather than solely relying on conventional wisdom. This approach encourages innovative and faith-driven leadership.

3. Embrace Generosity: Dedicate a significant portion of profits to charitable causes, reflecting a commitment to giving back and supporting God's work. Hobby Lobby, for instance, allocates 50% of its profits to fund various initiatives.

4. Take Purposeful Risks: Be willing to make bold decisions when they align with core values and divine direction, understanding that faith sometimes requires stepping into the unknown.

5. Plan for Long-Term Impact: Build the organization with a vision that spans beyond immediate generations, aiming for sustainability and enduring influence over 150 years or more.

6. Foster Family-Oriented Practices: Cultivate a workplace culture that values family principles, ensuring that business operations support and respect the well-being of employees' families.

7. Value Employees Over Profits: Prioritize the well-being and development of employees, believing that a cared-for workforce leads to greater overall success.

8. Empower Team Members: Encourage input and collaboration from all levels of the organization, fostering a culture where employees feel valued and heard.

9. Maintain Focus on Core Mission: Avoid distractions by concentrating on the primary purpose and strengths of the business, resisting the temptation to pursue unrelated opportunities.

10. Engage in Hands-On Leadership: Stay involved in the day-to-day operations to understand the business intimately, demonstrating commitment and setting an example for others.

11. Simplify Processes: Strive for simplicity in operations and decision-making, reducing complexity to enhance efficiency and clarity.

12. Work with Passion and Diligence: Approach leadership with enthusiasm and a strong work ethic, inspiring others through dedication and energy.

Conclusion

Making God your business partner transforms your enterprise into a mission field and a platform for His glory. With His wisdom, provision, and guidance, you gain not only financial success but also eternal rewards.

By surrendering your plans to God and working according to His principles, you'll experience fulfillment, peace, and the joy of being a steward of His blessings.

REFLECTION: TITHING MULTIPLIES YOUR CASH FLOW

Tithing is often regarded as a cash flow multiplier because it aligns spiritual principles, discipline, and practical financial stewardship in ways that can lead to both tangible and intangible blessings. Here's why

1. Trust in God's Provision

Tithing is an act of faith that acknowledges God as the source of all wealth and resources. By giving the first portion of your cash inflow (typically 10%), you are placing your trust in God's ability to provide for your needs.

- Biblical Foundation: Malachi 3:10: "Bring the whole tithe into the storehouse... Test me in this," says the Lord Almighty, "and see if I will not throw open the floodgates of heaven and pour out so much blessing that there will not be room enough to store it."
- Practical Outcome: This trust often leads to reduced anxiety about finances, allowing you to make more confident and strategic financial decisions.

2. Cultivating a Generosity Mindset

Tithing shifts your focus from scarcity to abundance, encouraging a mindset of generosity. When you give, it reinforces the belief that there is always enough to share, which can open your heart and mind to opportunities for growth and income generation.

- Principle: Generosity creates a positive cycle of receiving and giving, fostering relationships and goodwill that can lead to new opportunities.

3. Breaking the Power of Greed and Fear

By tithing, you demonstrate that your security is not in money but in God. This act breaks the hold of greed and fear, which often lead to poor financial decisions like hoarding or avoiding necessary investments.

- Impact: You become more open to taking calculated risks and pursuing ventures that align with your skills and values.

4. Financial Discipline and Prioritization

Tithing requires discipline and careful budgeting. This habit often spills over into other areas of financial management, such as saving, investing, and reducing unnecessary expenses.

- Multiplier Effect: Improved financial stewardship leads to better allocation of resources and the potential for increased returns.

5. Reaping the Law of Sowing and Reaping

Tithing is seen as planting seeds of faith. According to the principle of sowing and reaping, what you give will return to you in greater measure, though not always in material form.

- Biblical Foundation: Luke 6:38: "Give, and it will be given to you. A good measure, pressed down, shaken together and running over, will be poured into your lap."
- Practical Application: Many tithers report unexpected financial windfalls, business growth, or opportunities as a result of their giving.

6. Enhancing Relationships and Networks

Tithing often involves giving to a local church or community cause. This creates stronger connections within your faith community, which can lead to mentorship, partnerships, and networking opportunities that contribute to personal and professional growth.

7. Receiving God's Favor and Guidance

Many believers find that tithing brings clarity, wisdom, and favor in their financial decisions. They often experience peace and contentment, even in financial uncertainty.

- Biblical Foundation: Proverbs 3:9-10: "Honor the Lord with your wealth, with the first fruits of all your crops; then your barns will be filled to overflowing, and your vats will brim over with new wine."

Conclusion

Tithing is not a transactional formula but a spiritual discipline that aligns you with God's principles for stewardship and blessings. It combines faith, generosity, and practical wisdom, creating a ripple effect that can multiply your income and lead to greater overall prosperity.
